

I believe that the FCC is wrong in this case. We are subscribers. That means that we are PAYING for this. I don't think you have a right to do this, and I see no wrong-doing in listening to traffic and weather. That stuff is news. Since when is it considered wrong to listen to news? It's ridiculous. XM radio is my benefit, and it is convenient for the average consumer not to have to listen to boring, and overwhelmingly, way too many commercials, whereas anyone who is listening to standard radio has to put up with that. As a paying customer, I deserve everything that XM has to offer, and it is my decision what I want to listen to and what I don't want to listen. You need to reconsider your thinking on this matter.